

Title: Approaching Storm

I love summer storms! They cool things down and ionize the air. How invigorating! I can feel the excitement of the trees and the earth as they soak up the rain.

In Prescott the air is always fresh and clean, but just after a storm it holds a special energy! I can smell the damp ground and the plants seem to give off extra amounts of oxygen.

Location: Prescott, Arizona

Technical: JPEG Image
3264 x 2448 pixels
4.29 MB