

Rae Lakes With Approaching Storm

I Love A Storm!

I love a storm up in the mountains (if camp is already set up and secure). A storm so exciting! I like the sound of rain pelting the tent. It can be cold and miserable out there but I am warm and cozy in my sleeping bag.

The Sierra Nevada Mountains have one of the best summer alpine climates in the world. If it rains it is usually (although not always) just for a while in the afternoon and then it clears off by evening.
