

Marmot

Marmot Hunting (with a camera)

What lovely creatures these marmots are. They are curious but cautious. I was able to sit in front of a marmot den and talk him out. He became almost friendly and posed for the camera. If I made a clicking sound he would cock his head and listen.

They are likeable enough, but don't leave your pack unattended. If he smells food in there he doesn't need to open a zipper to get inside.
