

Le Conte Canyon

Mountain Music

Two rushing streams feed the high mountain lake where I sit. Their voices blend as if in song. The wind performs the orchestration by first presenting one melody and then the other. Sometimes they sing together.