

Dripping Faucet Project

Figure 2: Input Signal Conditioning

The raw input signal is the sound of dripping water. It is a messy audio signal with lots of content. I am interested in the event not the content of the signal. The circuit below shows:

1. Raw input signal
2. Signal is rectified and filtered
3. Schmitt trigger is used to produce one pulse per drip

